The Law of Libel.

The following is the full text of an act adopted at the last meeting of the Kentucky Press Association and ordered to be presented to the Legislature with the request that it be made a law:

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

Sec. 1. That in actions of libel there shall be no presumption of either express, actual or legal malice from the mere fact of the publication of the libel, and the burden of proof on the question of malice shall be on the plaintiff.

Sec. 2. In actions for libel, if there is no proof of express malice, or the court or jury shall find that there was no such malice, then no exemplary or punitive damages shall be awarded; nor shall any general damages be awarded that are not strictly actual and real.

Sec. 3. No action for libel shall be brought or maintained unless the plaintiff shall, before bringing the suit, request the defendant to publish a retraction of the libel and allow to the defendant a reasonable time in which to publish such retraction and to make such amendments as are reasonable and possible under the circumstances of the case, and proof of the publication of any such retraction or correction shall be admissible in evidence under the general issue on the question of the good faith of the defendant, and in mitigation and reduction of damages. Proof of the failure or neglect of the plaintiff to comply with the provisions of this section may be given in evidence under the general issue in bar of the action.

Sec. 4. It shall not be lawful for any attorney at law to bring or conduct any action of libel for a contingent fee, or on any understanding, express or implied, that he is to receive any portion, or all of the damages recovered, as compensation for his services; nor shall any attorney at law advance any money or to incur any liability for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the plaintiff in any such action.

Sec. 5. That all suits for libel against newspapers published in this Commonwealth shall be brought in the county in which said newspaper shall be published.

Sec. 6. That this Act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

The Speaker has treated the Kentuckians—especially the democrats—just like the fighting cocks they are, in his committee assignment. Mr. Carlisle heads the democrats on the Ways and Means Committee, thus officially receiving his appointment as leader of the minority, though he was informally assigned to that station the very first day of the session; Mr. Breckinridge is on the Appropriation Committee, which confirms him as lieutenant of the leader. The same may be said of Mr. McCreary's assignment as head of the minority of the Committee on Foreign Relations. Mr. Stone heads the minority on War Claims, Mr. Montgomery is on Postoffices and Railroads, Mr. Goodnight on Invalid Pensions, as is Mr. Wilson also. Mr. Caruth retains his place on Education, Mr. Ellis is on the District Committee, a most important position. Mr. Poynter is on the Committee of Revision of the Laws, so is Mr. Finley, who, by all considerations of courtesy, should have been the chairman, as he was the senior member of that committee of the last Congress who was re-elected.—Times.

During the racing season of 1889, O'or's get won the enormous sum of $172,897, Prince Charlie's $169,546 and Longfellow's $140,015. The biggest winner was Chaos, by Rayon d'Or, he capturing $63,550 in stakes and purses.

A citizen of Hawkinsville, Ga., who was suffering from asthma, was advised to try a remedy sometimes used by the negroes. He got a hornet's nest, boiled it, made a tea, drank the tea and was completely cured.

A Good Cough Syrup.

There is nothing parents should be so careful about as selecting a cough syrup. Beggs' Cherry Cough Syrup costs no more than the cheap and inferior nostrums thrown on the market. The best none too good, be sure and get BEGGS' CHERRY COUGH SYRUP. We keep it on hand at all times. A. R. Penny, Drugist.

A Scrap of Paper Saves Her Life.

It was just an ordinary scrap of wrapping paper, but it saved her life. She was in the last stages of consumption, told by physicians that she was incurable and could only live a short time. She weighed less than 70 pounds. On a piece of wrapper paper she read of Dr. King's New Discovery, and got a sample bottle; it helped her, she bought a large bottle and it helped her more, bought another and grew better fast, continued its use and is now strong, healthy, rosy plump, weighing 140 pounds. For fuller particulars send stamp to W. H. Cole, drugist, Fort Smith. Trial bottles of this wonderful discovery free at A. R. Penny's Drugstore.

DRUNKENNESS—THE LIQUOR HAB IT—In all the World there is but one cure, Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It can be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowledge of the person taking it, effecting a speedy and permanent cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. Thousands of drunkards have been cured who have taken the Golden Specific in their coffee without their knowledge, and to-day believe they quit drinking of their own free will. No harmful effect results from its administration. Cures guaranteed. Send for circular and full particulars. Address in confidence Golden Specific Co., 185 Race Street, Cincinnati, O.

COL. JOHN M. COWAN DEAD.

God is Love and Nothing Else. Praise the Lord.

SANDELL, LEE CO., FLA., DEC. 18, 1889. DEAR INTERIOR:—Our brother, John M. Cowan, died this afternoon, about 2 o'clock. He passed away without a struggle, like a weary child falling, peacefully, asleep.

He was conscious to the last and just before he died said: "Praise the Lord for all His goodness and mercy to us all." His very last words were: "I am afraid I am detaining you all from your work"—thinking of others more than of himself. An appropriate and characteristic ending of a true and tender life. He died in full assurance of the blessed life beyond.

Our "hearts are heavy and sad," but we praise the Lord that his dreary sufferings are over and his rest in Jesus begins. We bury him to-morrow in a beautiful spot, whence, the sun rising from the water and setting in it—morning and evening—can be seen. In front, the boundless expanse of Mexico's Gulf.

His brother Frank—next to him in age, of the five Cowan brothers—lives outside Vera Cruz, at the western extremity of this great sheet of water. John lies on the eastern verge.

His body will "return to dust" near the spot where Marie is to erect her church, and from its opened windows, it will not be difficult to imagine, he will hear the music of voice and organ he loved so much to listen to in earthly life.

We feel as if this link with the other world had made Sandell doubly a "homestead" to us all. Where we bury our dead is ever "holy ground."

Near a beautiful cluster of palms; between two "sea grape" trees; under a bank of snow-white shells, we lay our loved one down, "to gather strength and beauty for the coming of the Lord."

Ever in Jesus, GEO. O. BARNES.

A Graded School.

(To the Editor of the Interior Journal.)

Please allow us space in your paper (the friend to popular education) to send Christmas greetings to the friends and patrons of the public school. The present session, now only four months taught, has been, we think, not only the most pleasant to teachers, but the most profitable to pupils of any we have had the pleasure of conducting. Some of the reasons are: the separation of the primary and the advanced pupils, thereby giving more time to each department without a conflict one with the other. The regularity with which most parents have sent their children. While our discipline has not been so rigid as to destroy the pleasure of school life to the pupil, yet it is of a most positive character, thereby making it both profitable to instructors and those under our charge. The recitations as a rule have been more thorough and practicable than is usually the case with us in a school not altogether perfectly graded. And that reminds us that it is within the range of possibilities of the citizens of Dist. No. 1 to make this a graded free school, thereby saving at least 50 per cent. of the expenses in educating our boys and girls. Also the immediate oversight of our children could be had, which all parents will agree is so very essential to the moulding of character that is to fit them for future usefulness. We believe that Kentucky is not destined to remain long behind her sister States of the North or West in regard to public schools. Then why not begin at Stanford and make our public school as good as any in the land. We have the situation, we have the water, the principal part of the building necessary, a healthy location, plenty of money, children with craniums chuck full of natural capacity and many other advantages not found in other places where we are inclined to send our boys and girls, and that too away from home. No parents, think the matter over carefully and do for your sons and daughters that which seemeth best to pave the way to their future usefulness and possibly future greatness, thus leaving a heritage more priceless than Golconda's most valuable gems.

A happy Christmas to both parents and children. We are most respectfully, W. F. McCLARY, Prin., MISS BETTIE THURMOND, Ass't.

—Mrs. Paul Ruttger, a jeweler's wife at Tarentum, Pa., grappled with burglars in her husband's store, and, after a desperate struggle, one of the robbers shot and killed her.

CRAB ORCHARD.

—Bastin & Collier have moved their saw mill to a point two miles nearer town.

—Eliza Hansford, an old colored "auntie," well-known about town, died Saturday.

—Mr. Line Wells has rented the Rose property in the Cedar Creek locality and moved thereto.

—Will Curtis hung up an additional stocking Christmas eve night for the fine boy which came to his home a day or two ago.

—Miss Hattie Collier gave a pleasant social party at her country home Wednesday night, which was attended by quite a coterie of beaux and belles. They reported a gay time.

—A huge blaze south of town Christmas eve night caused a tremor of alarm, as it was thought to be Mr. Mack Holmes' residence, but it proved to be only some hay stacks near by, which doubtless caught from some itinerant mirth-making uclains, who started home with a surplus of Roman candles.

—An exultant pair of lovers from the Preacherville vicinity, whose names we were unable to learn, but who had doubtless outwitted the old folks by some skillful ruse, caught No. 25 here Sunday night and sped away to that matrimonial haven, Jellico, where ere this they are one till death do them part.

—Instead of a tree, a snow-house greeted the anxious beholder at the Christian church Christmas eve night, which was somewhat a novelty to all. The pews and aisles were literally packed with merry children and smiling grown people. Old Santa, admirably impersonated by Dr. Zeller, with his snowy beard and bearskin wallet, came down the chimney, tickling the little ones almost out of their wits. Under his supervision the presents, which were many and varied, were distributed and everybody went away delighted. One fellow, we noticed, got a shining 44 Colt's. Prof. John Anderson was the recipient of a doll about the size of the Colossus of Rhodes. Two gallants received a huge onion apiece, to "water their grief," as Bill Shakespeare says. And Pete Chandler, they do say, got a cradle. The Cornet Band was out in force and discoursed some exquisite music.

—Mr. and Mrs. George McQuerry, who were married last week, left Thursday for Texas, taking with them their household goods and the benediction of a host of friends. J. W. Brooks is spending Christmas with the home folks. Miss Nattie Collier is back from a pleasant visit to friends at Maywood. Evan Pettus, of Somerset, is the guest of Willie and Henry Pettus on Springs avenue. Miss Leah Stegar, of Georgetown Female College, who is developing into a beauty of the attractive Spanish type, is at home for the holidays with her mother and grandmother. J. A. Newland and wife have returned from a brief visit to the city. James White, ex-sheriff of Rockcastle, was here Saturday. Miss Leila Williams, of Mt. Vernon, and Miss Mary Davis Dudderar, of Stanford, two pretty little brunettes, accompanied by Messrs. Hite and Danks, were the guests of Miss Lottie Dillon Sunday. Handsome Henry Miller, en route home to Lewisburg, stopped over here Sunday to see his aunt Mrs. J. H. Collier. Mrs. Samuel Higgins, who was Miss Judith King, and Miss Bettie Higgins, of Somerset, are here to spend Christmas week. Mr. Carol Plummer, after a year's stay in Louisville, is with the old folks once more. Mr. Jas. Tatem, of Lexington, is visiting his cousin, Mr. Sam Tatem. Col. Ben Bean, of Knoxville, is here to see his friend assume the role of a Benedict. That popular gentleman, Dr. W. B. Armendt, accompanied by his brother, Mr. Albert Armendt, are up from Owensboro to be royally entertained by their many friends. Mrs. Craft, of London, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Dr. Blair. Miss Kate Curtis is spending the holidays in Somerset. Johnny Edmiston and sister, little Miss Hallie, are with their father, Mr. D. B. Edmiston. Miss Maud Pope and brother, of Danville, are visiting at Mr. J. H. Hutchings'. Miss Birdie Stephenson, a handsome young lady of Hanover, Ind., is spending the holidays with her aunt, Mrs. Judge W. O. Hansford. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Collier arrived from Huntsville Ala., Tuesday night, to spend the festive season in old C. O. Misses Addie and Rhoda Harlan, two of Danville's fairest, are the guests of Miss Bettie Higgins. Mr. and Mrs. John A. Haldeman are here to attend the Davis Buchanan nuptials, which occur to-day, Wednesday. Messrs. Joe and Will Brooks are at home from the Falls City. Miss Nannie Kennedy, is with her sister, Mrs. M. C. Williams, at Mt. Vernon. Victor Owens, of Mt. Vernon, is down to see his mother, Mrs. Addie Herron. "Vic" has gotten to be quite a man since we saw him last.

What A Fortune

Is a good healthy, pearly skin. Few are aware of the short time it takes for a disordered liver to cause blotches on the face, and a dark greasy skin. One bottle of BEGGS' BLOOD PURIFIER and BLOOD MAKER will restore the organ to its natural and healthy state, and cleanse the blood of all impurities. It is meeting with wonderful success. We guarantee every bottle. A. R. Penny, Drugist.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—A duller and sadder Christmas was never seen in Lancaster.

—John H. Woodcock died at the rooms of his devoted friend W. S. Miller at 6.15 o'clock Tuesday evening, Dec. 24, in the 38th year of his age, having been born in Somerset, March 31st, 1851. The announcement of a death is always sad, it matters not whether in high or low degree. The presence of the dread angel makes itself felt alike in the hovel of the poor and the palace of the rich. Ordinarily men lost is like a stone thrown into the water, for a moment there is an eddy, a brief whirl and then the stream flows smoothly and silently on. John Woodcock was one of nature's noblemen. He had strong convictions, which he did not hesitate to express, but he never, knowingly, hurt the feelings of a friend. He enjoyed life and was always genial, whole-souled and ready to give pleasure to others. His deeds of charity to the poor and needy, his exemplary mode of life and his intensely sympathetic nature will rear for him a lasting monument in the hearts of all who know him. His soul went out to the God who gave it on the eve of that day that nearly 1900 years ago ushered the Christ child into the world. His devotion to Brother Barnes was remarkable and he believed and carried out in his daily walks in life the truism that "God is Love and Nothing Else." He was fond of children and one of his greatest pleasures was to join with them in the celebration of Christmas. The town has on now a badge of mourning and not a sound of festivities disturb his peaceful sleep. This gala time has changed to one of sadness and whispering voices speak to each other the sad tidings in mournful accents. He was a director of the National Bank and that building is draped in a garb of sombre hue in honor of his memory. His death was without a struggle, surrounded by his family and friends. He never faltered in the belief that he would get well, but just as the curtains of night drew down upon the joyful world, his soul took its flight as calmly and as serenely as a babe slumbering at its mother's breast and his spirit went out like a river flowing on without a ripple, without a murmur to the waveless ocean of eternal peace. His was a life of beauty and friendly devotion. But our friends, too, must die and with them the recollection of ourselves. Thus passeth away the glory of this world. We must all admit that it is a strange God who removes from our midst such examples. This man who wore the garb of christianity not only in the church, or on the Sabbath, but in his every day walks of life should have been left as a guiding star, that parents might with consideration point to and say to their children "Go thou and do likewise." But the cord is severed and we can only sigh and ask, who will be the next to be borne hither with the icy shroud of death wrapped around him? No one answers; can anyone say it will not be himself? Then is there need of preparation by all? Brother, our tombs are prepared, our end draws near; it cannot be far distant. Again then, in the voice of friendship, let us be "Ready for the first sound." How oft we have listened to the kind words of christian counseling of this good man and while we do not profess to have followed his kindly teachings, we do claim to be much benefited by his pure associations and pray that his angel spirit may continue to lead us deeper into the paths of righteousness and peace and fit us for association with him in eternity. The burial will take place at Somerset on Thursday afternoon, after funeral services conducted by Dr. T. H. Clelland at the Christian church of that place. The "Boone Club," of Lancaster, of which he was an honored and devoted member, will act as pall bearers and his remains will be followed to their last resting place by many of his Lancaster friends, whom he was so much attached to, as to leave family and kindred and pleasantly abide with until the summons came for him to join the angel band. Uncontrollable sorrow forbids any further news items from us this week.

—Only a Farmer's Daughter is a play dealing with modern society life, where in a happy family, consisting of a talented husband and father, his wife, the wealthy farmer's daughter, and their little girl, are agitated and almost divided through the machinations of an adventuress to supplant the wife in her husband's affections, and thus gain access to his large fortune. Her deeply laid plans approach success when Lennox, the husband, has a vision of his future career, seeing himself at the end a raving maniac, destitute of both friends and fortune. From this horrid nightmare he wakes to find himself still surrounded by wife and child and his fortune still intact. The conclusion is patent; he immediately breaks with the adventuress and resolves neither to see her nor her associate again and the curtain drops on a re-united family circle, happy in their mutual love.—New York Dispatch.

THE death of Henry W. Grady, the gifted editor and orator, is a serious blow to the South, of which he was so fond a lover and so gallant a defender. As editor of the Atlanta Constitution he wielded a vast influence and his utterances as an orator invariably commanded universal attention and respect. At a banquet given by the New England Society two years ago he delivered a speech on the South, which was a masterpiece of eloquence and an earnest appeal for brotherly love and intercourse between the sections. His last public appearance was in Boston recently, when he spoke on the race problem, with his usual broadness of views and statesmanship. He contracted pneumonia on the trip and died a few days after his return in the full flush of a noble career. The South, and indeed the whole country, mourns over his untimely death.

On our first page will be found the full text of an act entitled the Law of Libel, which was adopted at the last meeting of the Kentucky Press Association and ordered to be presented to the Legislature, with the request that it be made the law. A committee will see that it is presented, but every newspaper man in the State is interested in the matter and should make it a point to urge upon the member from his county to support the measure. Another committee was ordered to be appointed to secure the passage of a uniform advertising law and these are therefore to remind President E. Polk Johnson that if he has not already done so the naming of that committee is in order.

THE Georgetown Times is 23 years old. It was started by its present owner and editor, Hon. John A. Bell, who has been in charge of it the entire time. The Times is a good paper and the fact that 300 or more of its subscribers have been with it from the start shows how much it is appreciated. In certain contingencies Bro. Bell promises a semi-weekly and says that the Times will blossom into a daily when the town has 10,000 inhabitants, which may occur in the near future, as it is rapidly becoming a place of importance.

It is with deep regret that we chronicle the death of John H. Woodcock, of Lancaster. A gentler, purer, lovelier spirit never inhabited human body, nor was man more beloved than he by all who knew him. Hundreds of friends unite with his grief-stricken wife in genuine sorrow over her terrible loss. May she find consolation in looking to the God of Love and Nothing Else, in Whom his faith was so steadfastly fixed. Col. W. S. Miller, a devoted friend, pays his memory a loving tribute in another column.

JUDGE FINLEY was pretty badly turned down by Speaker Reed, who does not measure the mountain statesman with the tape line that he uses for himself and which some of his admirers affect to use. He is much displeased with his committee assignments and says he will refuse them when Congress reconvenes next month. This is all gas, though. Finley ought to have sense enough to know that a man can be a hater of a fellow at Williamsburg and still be the little end of nothing at Washington.

COLLECTOR SCOTT, of the Louisville district, is not enjoying the holiday season to any great extent. Most of his bondsmen have asked to be released on the grounds that he is incompetent for the duties of the office and has no regard for a promise whatever. Scott says they are prevaricators and that he can get other bondsmen just as easy, but we shall see what we shall see.

THE directors of the L. & N. Co. have presented the widow of Conductor Lemon, who was murdered in discharge of his duty, with 20 shares of stock in the road, valued at over $2,000, made up by their individual contributions. Corporations may have no souls, but these gentlemen have demonstrated that they have.

SENATOR BECK seems to be losing his mind as well as his health. His gush over Senator Allison, of Iowa, whom he lauds to the skies, and says his State would disgrace itself by not returning him to the Senate, is especially senile when we consider how bitter and ultra are his protective ideas.

THE Clarksville, Tenn., Progress omitted all. It issued a 16-page, 7-column paper, teeming with advertisements and good things. Loving Gaines has evidently got a gold mine.

THE dailies are loaded down as usual with accounts of killings, accidents and deaths. It is always so at this time of the year, when peace on earth, good will to men should prevail.

Under the head "Caught with a Kodak," our Gov. Jim Givens is thus photographed in the Louisville Critic: "A face as broad as a barn door and a mind as deep as one of his own natural gas wells. The kindest, gentlest, oiliest, most unsuspecting smile; had Bret Harte met it sooner his immortal poem would have been addressed to 'Ah Jim' instead of 'Ah Sin.' A laugh that betrays his round body and that gurgles and reverberates like old wine reluctantly leaving a bottle. He has enough stock in land, gas and mining companies to paper the expanse of the eternal heavens, and if his holdings ever touch par the interest on them will pay the national debt. The personification of that latter-day genius a promoter—a cross between a boomer and a plunger. He knows enough law to make a living out of it if his path was not strewn with better opportunities. There's a shrewdness behind his simple, plausible greeting that many a wiser man might envy."

The kindest, gentlest, oiliest, most unsuspecting smile; had Bret Harte met it sooner his immortal poem would have been addressed to 'Ah Jim' instead of 'Ah Sin.' A laugh that betrays his round body and that gurgles and reverberates like old wine reluctantly leaving a bottle. He has enough stock in land, gas and mining companies to paper the expanse of the eternal heavens, and if his holdings ever touch par the interest on them will pay the national debt. The personification of that latter-day genius a promoter—a cross between a boomer and a plunger. He knows enough law to make a living out of it if his path was not strewn with better opportunities. ## MT. VERNON, ROCKCASTLE COUNTY.

—John Fredericks, while flourishing a big corn knife, Christmas day, telling the good people what a man he was among men, failed to remember that he had any legs and in making a circle with his annihilator, ran it into his leg. John fainted from loss of blood.

—At Pittsburg, Laurel county, Robert Miller was shot and killed by Robert Spears, Tuesday evening. The parties had been at out for some time over the shooting of Will Miller in the arm at a church in that place some time since by Spears when attempting to arrest him for disturbing worship, Spears being town marshal at the time. They met at the depot on the above evening and both opened fire. Spears after emptying his pistol attempted to reach a store-house where he had a gun, when the marshal, Stringer, halted him. He did not stop until Stringer fired a ball through the calf of his leg. Miller was taken to London. Tom Evans, a bystander, received a ball through the ankle during fight.

—Samuel Anglin was shot and dangerously wounded by James Townsend and William Adams Monday night near Brush Creek Station. Anglin received two wounds, one in the left wrist and one in the abdomen ranging downward. The wounded man says the parties came to his house and being refused admittance threatened his life. He stepped outside when they opened fire upon him. Townsend and Adams say they had all been drinking together during the day and in passing Anglin's house they stepped on the outside while Anglin went in. After a little time Anglin was heard smashing dishes, etc. Townsend, who is father-in-law of Anglin, went in to quiet and pacify him, when he got his gun and ran Townsend from the house, following him and Adams a short distance when the firing was opened with above result. Townsend was brought here Wednesday evening. Adams has not been arrested.

ROAD LAW.—Representative Warren requests that those who have objections to the proposed road law will please make them known at once, as it will be too late after he presents it.

THE treat given by the Methodist ladies to the Sunday-school scholars at Rev. T. J. Godbey's Tuesday afternoon was greatly enjoyed by the young people, each of whom got a present. Mrs. S. P. Stagg and Miss Emma McKean managed the affair very successfully and satisfactorily.

THE Bristol, Tenn., Courier speaks of the "Only a Farmer's Daughter" in the highest terms. There is not a stick in the cast, it says, while Miss Cherie and Charles Mortimer are excellent. We are confident that the entertainment will be first-class and therefore advise our people to see it. One night only. Dec. 28th.

THE heirs of the late Mrs. Jennie Buchanan Armendt have filed suits to set aside sales made by herself and husband of 100 acres of land to W. R. Dillon and a house and lot in Crab Orchard to J. T. Chadwick. They allege fraud and claim that it was perpetrated to prevent them from getting their lawful share of the estate.

A LOT of negroes tried to take the K. C. train between Richmond and Silver Creek Tuesday night, and in the row that ensued Conductor Shea and Brake-man Newland shot one apiece, though not seriously. Some U. S. Marshals were on the train and assisted in restoring order. It happened in the ladies' coach, badly frightening, as well as endangering the lives of the passengers.

OLD Mr. Thornton Porter contributes this: "I saw Mr. Dawson's piece in the I. J. about hunting. I think I can beat that. A man named Collier came to my father's house and staid all night. The next morning about sunrise we went to Dudderar's woods to hunt squirrels. I found the squirrels and he killed 80 before night, rarely ever missing a shot, and sometimes killing two at a shot."

OF Miss Adelaide Cherie, who appears in "Only a Farmer's Daughter" at Walton's Opera House Dec. 28th, the New York World says: "The most beautiful lady on the American stage." Tribune: "A difficult adventuress beautifully performed." London Times: "To praise her is to gild refined gold." Melbourne Era: "All Australia is worshipping her beauty and talent." South African Gazette: "Miss Cherie has captured the Cape of Good Hope."

THE party given by Miss Julia Bradley to her guests, Misses Jones and Rue, of Harrodsburg, at her home at Hustonville, Tuesday evening, was a delightful affair and was well attended by the beauty and chivalry of Lincoln, Boyle and Mercer. The fair hostess, assisted by Misses Belle Bogle and Annie Adams, did the entertaining and it is needless to say it was done handsomely. The dance was engaged in and a rare treat of Miss Bradley's musical talent was enjoyed. An elegantly served lunch at 11 o'clock was partaken of and it was far into the wee sma' hours before the guests could get their own consent to leave the scene of merriment.

CHRISTMAS night brought the usual disorder and drunkenness. One young man, more disorderly than the rest, was taken to jail, but was let off on the promise of his friends that he would go home. We will let him off, too, this time with the suggestion that a repetition of such conduct will certainly be exposed in this paper, as much as we dislike to do it. About 11 o'clock Joe Portman applied an offensive epithet to Marshal Newland and was promptly knocked down. Officers should not be too handy with their clubs, neither should people presume on their forbearance. An officer has the same right, no more, no less, than any other man to resent an insult. Portman got the blow in his face and is quite badly hurt.

THE drawing for the $200 organ at the Louisville Store will occur to-day. Mr. M. Salinger tells us that 8,700 chances have been taken, the purchase of a dollar's worth of goods entitling the buyer to chance.

A MEETING of Hope Lodge, No. 19, K. of H., will be held at 4 o'clock this evening for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year. A full attendance is desired. By order of the Director. A. A. Warren, Reporter.

THE McGibeny family arrived on time in their magnificent special car yesterday and the prospect at this writing is that a crowded house will greet them. More reserved seats had been sold than to any previous performance.

THE cry of spoiled meat comes from all over the State to the extent that makes it a very serious matter. A good deal has been lost in this county. Mr. John Bright tells us that he finds more than half of his badly tainted, the result of the prolonged period of warm weather.

AS Mr. J. T. O'Hair was loading some rock near the crossing on Danville street a train passed by scaring his horse and making the animal take to his heels. Mr. O'Hair was violently knocked down by the wagon and the wheels passed over his left ankle, spraining it severely. The wagon was badly used up while the horse came out badly scarred and bruised.

CHRISTMAS day was rainy with the mercury at 60°. Yesterday was a typical spring day, bright and sunshiny and the thermometer at 65°.

BUT if the Signal service is to be believed a change will come to night. This dispatch was received at noon yesterday.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26, 11 A. M. To W. P. Walton. Hoist cold wave signal. Temperature will fall to about 32° by tomorrow evening. GREELY.

ANOTHER KILLING.—Isaac Shelby, Jr., shot and killed A. Lingenfelt at Junction City, Tuesday afternoon. The circumstances appear to be as follows: Shelby went into Ball's bar-room and seeing a crowd of friends asked them up to take a drink. Lingenfelt walked up too, but Shelby refused to permit him to drink with him. A quarrel ensued, when Shelby drew his pistol and shot at him five times, four shots taking effect, two in his head and one each in his breast and arm, killing him instantly. It is also reported that Lingenfelt was running at the time and that the shots were in the back. A coroner's inquest resulted in a verdict of death at the hands of Shelby and he was placed under guard till his trial to-morrow. Col. Hill, who was telegraphed for, tells us that it will be proved that Lingenfelt shot twice before Shelby drew his pistol and that he had long had a grudge against Shelby because he had driven him from his serf for milking his (Shelby's) cows for his own use. It is further said that Lingenfelt and his friends had been trying to bulldoze Shelby for sometime and had made threats against him.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—William Gooch obtained license to marry Miss Mattie Vaught at Milledgeville to-day.

—U. S. Taylor and Miss Caroline, daughter of W. A. Holtzelaw, were married on the 24th.

—Perry Trimble, 19, and Miss Talitha Leach, of the Kingsville section, were made one Christmas day.

—Rane S. Bohon, of Decatur, Ill., and Miss Susie, daughter of Russell Cecil, of Harrodsburg, were married on the 23d.

—Miss Cyrena Young, a sweet sixteen-year-old, gave herself to Joseph M. Bastin, aged 20, for a Christmas gift Wednesday.

—Anna C. Jones, the 17-year-old daughter of preacher Sam Jones, eloped Wednesday with William M. Graham, a court stenographer, from Cartersville, Ga.

—J. G. Records, who has seen but 18 winters, and Miss Margaret, daughter of G. M. Clift, upon whose head but 15 summer suns have shone, were permitted to become husband and wife by their respective parents yesterday.

—Miss Jean R. Buchanan was married at Mr. W. F. Abraham's Wednesday to S. M. Davis, Esq., of Knoxville. The bride is both handsome and cultivated and the groom is said to be an excellent business man.

—Mr. J. Will Swope and Miss Mary Gulley were married at the bride's father's in Garrard at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, by Elder J. Q. Montgomery. The marriage is a consummation of a long courtship, which strange to say has been one of smooth sailing from their first acquaintance to the day of their marriage. The usual little "fall outs" and "make ups" have been conspicuous for their absence, which seems conclusive proof that it has been the Lord's will all along that they should be husband and wife. Miss Gulley is a handsome brunette, accomplished and noted for her sweetness of disposition and lovely character, while Mr. Swope is a young man of high morals, good business qualifications and the possessor of a legion of friends. May their lives be as bright as the day of their marriage is the INTERIOR JOURNAL's hearty wish.

—A free fight resulted from a mistake in distributing the presents at a Christmas tree celebration in an Eagle Creek, Ill., church Tuesday night and many persons were seriously hurt.

REPORT OF THE CONDITION OF THE

Stanford Roller Mills

To Board of Directors:—

The buildings, lot and plant costing originally $27,500 was bought by the present company at $18,500. The old machinery was torn out and the best new roller machinery put in; the whole buildings were renovated; the elevator was strengthened and covered with sheet iron—all at a cost of $13,357.31—making the cost of the mill to the company $31,857.31. The capital stock of the company, when it began operation July 7th, 1889, was but $12,800, so that it began with a debt of $19,057.31. The condition of the mill on the 21st of Dec. 1889 after careful examination, may be thus summarized:

DIMINISHES DANGER TO LIFE OF

"MOTHERS' FRIEND" AND CHILD

BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO. ATLANTA, GA.

ACK, do you remember that day in December, when, through woods fairly reeking with mist, we went seeking The wild turkey?

Tame turkeys were plenty; the barn-yard held twenty Fat fellows that same winter morning. But aught save the stranger, the mast-flavored ranger, We were seeking.

From edge of the meadow, deep into the shadow Of forests, a single track treaded; Miles we followed, through reaches of oak, ash and beeches, Till it ended.

In a glade wood surrounded, on every side bounded By pines we stood, each a tired hobbler. When, suddenly, vaulted, from eryic exalted, The wild gobbler!

How the boyish blood bounded when overhead sounded Strong wings, the air cleaving asunder! Though hope it seemed dooming, that strident out-booming, Like the thunder!

Boys seize chances lightly; the rifles flashed brightly, Like whip-lashes cracking together; Next instant we noted where downward there floated Just a feather!

Hit! 'Twixt trees the glade walling plunged, rudely falling, Something dark! How we yelled! which had shot him? Through the bare branches dashing, to earth he came crashing, We'd got him!

How we tore through the bushes, what fallings and pushes, Tired muscles new strength seemed to borrow! How we toiled homeward proudly and planned and talked loudly Of the morrow!

And, next day, what a dinner! no'er turkey was Or tougher, but that didn't matter; We were bigoted—loyal unto the bird royal On the platter!

At the club to-day, dining—and cautiously winging— Much I thought of the dinners I'd eaten; Each, save that, in its savor, its exquisite flavor Could be beaten.

Though our stomachs we pickle with sauces to die for, A freakish digestion's odd humors, There is naught like hunger which comes to the younger Food consumers.

There is nothing can bring us the young blood was in us; We are veterans, observant and knowing; Life has made us two wiser, but no appetizer Matches growing!

Ah! 'twas life! You remember that day in December, Snow-clouded and drizzling and murky, When, through woods fairly reeking with mist, we went seeking The wild turkey? —Stanley Waterloo, in Judge.

Little Viola.
Little Viola wished a very large doll last Christmas, but as it was quite expensive she was given a smaller one. Playing contentedly with it on Christmas Day, she suddenly stopped and said: "Mamma, I know why I didn't get that big doll."
"Why, darling?" asked mamma.
"Cause our chimney's too little; Santa Claus couldn't bring the big one down. I wish he had known the way to our front door."

Dearer with Age.
"You seem to have a strong attachment for that old overcoat," said Crabbe, as they walked through the snow towards the restaurant where they were to take their Christmas dinner.
"Yes," replied Jack; "it grows dearer and dearer to me the more I wear it. Only last month I had to pay eighteen percent interest to get a chance to wear it."—Judge.

Hardly Available.
"I know I ought to be thankful to Miss Snyder," said Merritt, "but I don't see how I can be."
"How's that?" asked Cobwigger.
"Why," returned Merritt, "she made me a pair of slippers that are several times too large."—Judge.

An Appropriate Present.
Wife—What are you going to give me for a Christmas present?
Husband—If you could play on the violin I know what I'd give you.
"What?"
"It is called a chin rest."

She—No, Mr. Wilts, you need not hope; I can never be more than a sister to you.
He—Excuse me, Miss Wilts, that don't go. It's altogether too near Christmas to work the sister racket on me.

SEEKING INFORMATION.

He Wanted to Know How They Looked to Other People and Found Out.
"See that party over there?" said a very seedy tramp to a business man, as he pointed to a hard looking specimen of humanity across the street.

"I see that rocky looking chap over there," replied the business man.
"What is your best judgment of him from general appearances?"
"I should take him to be a very good man to fight shy of."

"Wouldn't take him to be a well to do, easy going business man?"
"I should say not."

"Don't strike you as a capitalist who has visited your town with a view to locating a large manufacturing establishment?"

"He strikes me as a beat."
"Think he isn't the representative of an English syndicate in search of a brewery?"

"He may be in search of a saloon."
"If you should see two men like him together would you suppose they had arrived in town to found a college or to invest their money in property on a speculation?"

"I should think they were a couple of dizzy bums who ought to be run in on general principles."

"Thank you very much. You see, the party over the way is my partner. We were curious to know just what sort of an impression we were making as we journeyed along, and I excused myself to run over and put to you a few questions. You have answered with directness and conciseness, and I will report progress. Good day." — New York World.

A Horse Trade.

A gentleman seeing two sharpers, and wishing to know who made the best bargain, called one: "How much did you sell the horse for, Sam?" "Five dollars, sir." "Oh, Sam, how could you do that?" "Oh, the horse is lame, sir." The gentleman called the other: "How could you buy that horse? It is lame and incurable." "Never you mind; it is only the bad shoeing that makes it lame." The gentleman called Sam again: "Sam, the horse is not lame, only badly shod." "No, sir; I only had it badly shod to deceive the buyer." The gentleman spoke to the other again: "Say, the shoe was badly put on to deceive you." "You never mind, sir—hesitating—"I paid him with a counterfeit bill."—Dominion Illustrated.

A Wise Bird.

Customer—I've been cheated. I thought you said this parrot would talk.
Bird Fancier—No, sir. What I said was that he had been brought up in the company of learned men, and was full of philosophy and scholarship. Of course, he don't talk. Mere idle words have no attraction for him. But he's a remarkable parrot because he's a great thinker. —Munsey's Weekly.

Describing the Accident.

McCorkle—There was a terrible shock, which threw every passenger into the aisle. When we recovered ourselves and went forward we found that our train and another had—had—
McCorkle (helping him to a word)—Telegraphed.
McCorkle—No; collide—escaped. — Drake's Magazine.

She Was an Old Campaigner.

Charles—I see, Maud, you have put my photograph in a place of honor.
Maud—Yes; I always reserve this place for the man I am engaged—that is—I meant to say—
And it took her half an hour to explain away that unlucky speech and restore confidence.—Judge.

His Bright Hopes.

Actor—Lend me a dollar, Brown.
Brown—I should be glad to lend it to you, my dear boy, if I thought you would be able to pay it back, but—
Actor—Able to pay it back! Why, man, in the third act I steal a hundred thousand dollars in gold.—Pick Me Up.

Garments of a Different Stripe.

"How do, Freddie? Strolling out?"
"Yes."
"Ah, say! come and call on the De Silvers."
"Can't, of chappie, I've on mah strolling not mah sitting down trousers." —Munsey's Weekly.

A Mockery of Justice.

A baseball player was recently given a gold watch for stealing bases, and from the same town we hear that a bicyclist has been given four months for stealing a bicycle. Is justice a failure? —Wheelman's Gazette.

He Was Too Fluent in English.

Gabley—Oh, yes, I read French, but I do not speak it. I'm afraid of my accent, you know.
Wiggins—What capital company you would make for a Frenchman.—Munsey's Weekly.

Straight Backed Antiquity.

Wiggins (rubbing himself)—You seem to be a great admirer of antique furniture, Friend Oldboy.
Oldboy—Why, yes; that chair, for instance, that you've been sitting in. It was formerly my great-grandfather's.
Wiggins—I don't doubt it. It feels as if it might have killed off four generations.—Texas Sittings.

A VALUABLE BOY.

Caller—Is the editor in? I wish to see him about a little bill.
Valuable Boy—To collect or pay?
Caller—To collect.
Valuable Boy—He's out and won't be back for a month.—The Jury.

How He Lost Them.

Lady of the House—How did you lose those two fingers from your left hand, my poor man?
Tramp—They were cut off, mum.
"I suppose that was when you were working, and that their loss disabled you from further manual labor. Tell me, was it in a mill?"
"No, mum. It wuz in a hen-coop. I had to cut 'em off or steal the trap." — N. Y. Sun.

HE COULDN'T SEE.

"Want a shine, Boss?"
"I don't know. Do I need it?"—Life.
She Acknowledged Her Ignorance.
Mrs. Gullible—Do you know, dear John is just as boyish in his feelings as he ever was.
Mrs. Kowler—Indeed?
Mrs. Gullible—Yes; why, it was only last night I heard him talking in his sleep about seeing the elephant. The dear fellow has doubtless been to the circus.—Lawrence American.

A NATURAL MISTAKE.

New Policeman—Old fellow to see ver permit, sur.
Swell (puzzled)—Permit?
New Policeman—Yis, permit. It's agin de law fer masqueraders ter parade de streets without 'r permit. Go home an' take off de duds or I'll lock ye up.—Munsey's Weekly.

Where Man Has No Rival.

"Talk about the capability of woman! Why, she is already a dangerous rival of man in many pursuits."
"Yes; but there is one in which she will never eclipse him."
"What is that?"
"Trying to say 'truly rural' at two o'clock in the morning."—Judge.

That's the Way to Serve It, Hot.

"Have you a taste for poetry?" asked Miss Babbitt. "Indeed I have," replied the great editor, for it was he. "And what kind do you most like?" she asked. "Broiled," he said, through his teeth, "broiled to a crisp, through the coals." —Bardette, in Brooklyn Eagle.

What His Crime Was.

First Texan—We had a lynchin' here yesterday.
Second Texan—Boss-thief?
First Texan—Naw. 'Twas a N'York dood who couldn't say nothin' but "Just fawney." —Munsey's Weekly.

A Legitimate Transaction.

Magistrate (severely).—You are charged, sir, with picking the pocket of a city councilman.
Prisoner.—I am a tax-payer.
Magistrate.—Next case.—N. Y. Weekly.

People Shouldn't Throw Mud.

Pickle Pork (to sugar tongue)—You're always in a sweet mood, aren't you?
Sugar Tongue (resentfully)—That is no worse than being half the time in a pickle.—Jewelry's Weekly.

High Life.

High Life, Freddy, is a term which has as many degrees of latitude as the earth itself. In the West and South if two bar-keepers have a row it is called a "scandal" in high life. —Life.
